

Bedtime Story For the Little Ones

UNCLE WIGGILY AND AUNT FLIPPITY.

By HOWARD R. GARIN.

"I SUPPOSE you are going to be very busy today," said Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, to Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, one morning as he was about to leave the hollow stump bungalow.

"Busy? Well, not more so than I am every day. I am going to the woods to look for an adventure. Why, did you want me to go to the store for you?" he asked.

"Not exactly. You see, Aunt Flippity, I am coming to spend the day with me. But you know how it is with her. She is so nervous and excited, turning flips or flops, and falling upside down whenever the least thing goes wrong, that I'm afraid to leave her home through the woods alone."

"Ah! I see," exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "And you want me to go get her?"

"If you would be so kind."

BY DAISY DEAN.

"MOTHERS OF FRANCE" had its first showing last week in New York.

It attracted an unusual demonstration.

The audience stood up, waving programs, and cheered.

"Mrs. Sarah Bernhardt's moving picture play," writes one reviewer, "has bare the throbbing, bleeding heart of France."

"It is hard to say just why it appealed so strongly to emotions. It may have been the wonderful acting of Mrs. Bernhardt."

"She brings the suffering of her haunted country closer, and makes the people of the story real."

Other reviewers say it is the best movie romance yet made about the war in Europe.

THE FUR FLEW

William Duncan got on a firm scene

WINIFRED KINGSTON, who plays opposite Dustin Farnum and will next be seen in "North of Fifty-three."

In the third episode of a serial picture the other day, there were seven men concerned in the fight and Mr. Duncan being the hero of the episode, had to meet and defeat all the other six. Though this outcome was prearranged, the ethics of the fight itself were new and there were many varieties of bruises as there were fighters. Mr. Duncan's share was a dislocated finger and his six opponents each bear a distinctive mark, visible or otherwise, as individual proof that they "went up" against Bill Duncan.

EGYPTIAN STORY FOR PETROVA

The Famous Players-Lasky corporation has taken over the Egyptian studio in Fort Lee, one of the largest in the east. The floor space is so great that the largest interior scenes can be taken in it. One of the first pictures to be made there will be the one in which Olga Petrova will be seen for the first time under this management. Miss Petrova and her company left recently for Florida, where many of the exterior scenes will be taken. The picture will have an Egyptian local.

GEORGE BEBAN, LINGUIST

George Beban, well and favorably known Italian character actor, is mastering the elements of the bear language. In other words, there is to be a bear in Beban's next picture.

"Whenever the bear smits one loud roar I bolt out of the cage, that kind of a roar means gateway," explains the erudite Beban.

TODAY'S DAINTIEST DISH

By CONSTANCE CLAIRRE.

Roast Ribs of Beef.

THE fore rib is considered the most economical. Put the meat with a piece of fat into the pot, dredge with a little flour, and keep continually basting the whole time. Sprinkle some fine salt over it; this must never be done until the meat is done, as it draws the juices from the meat, pour the dripping from the pan, put in a little boiling water slightly salad, thicken with a little flour and strain the gravy over the meat. Serve with horseradish sauce.

Horseradish Sauce.—Put two tablespoons of grated horseradish into a bowl. Add to this one raw yolk of egg, salt and pepper, half a teaspoonful of sugar and half a teaspoonful of French mustard. Mix all together with one and a half teaspoonfuls of white vinegar; beat half a cup of thickly whipped cream, stir well together and use.

Dear Miss Forbes—This is the top letter—Will you please send me the recipe for gluten bread. L. Bennett.

Dissolve half a yeast cake in four tablespoonfuls of water, add a teaspoonful of salt and two of softened butter. Add enough gluten flour to make a stiff batter. Beat in the whites of two eggs, let rise, and then add gluten flour enough to knead the loaf. The dough should be soft as possible. Let rise in the pans until light and bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes.

You Can Make Excellent Cake with Fewer Eggs

Just use an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, in place of each egg omitted.

This applies equally well to nearly all baked foods. Try the following recipe according to the new way:

CREAM LAYER CAKE

Old Way

1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
3 EGGS
1/2 cup shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring

New Way

1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
2 cups flour
4 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 egg
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon flavoring

Makes 1 Large 2-Layer Cake

DIRECTIONS—Cream the sugar and shortening together, then mix in the egg. After sifting the flour and Royal Baking Powder together two or three times, add it all to the mixture. Gradually add the milk and beat with spoon until you have a smooth pour batter. Add the flavoring. Pour into greased layer cake tins and bake in a moderately hot oven for twenty minutes. This cake is best baked in two layers. Put together with cream filling and spread with white icing.

PARSON WITH TRIMMINGS.

S HORTLY after three that afternoon Parson Twigg decided to drop in and talk it over with old Mrs. Trimmings. Old Mrs. Trimmings was as deaf as a post and never had understood a word of his sermon, but he had made her contributions to his favorite fund for destitute mothers of orphans since she had stopped coming to church.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Trimmings," he began cheerfully. "May I inquire what induced you to leave my congregation?"

"Best never mind why in the deuce I left it," snapped Mrs. Trimmings, as she continued embroidering a jar of home-made cookies.

"I admit the singing is not all it ought to be. The heat in the church affects the bass, and—"

"Of course, it's hard to eat in the church! Do I understand anybody ever had the insinuations to accuse me—?"

"Oh, no, no, Mrs. Trimmings! Quite the opposite and on the contrary! My meaning merely was—I was unaware that you were not satisfied."

Mrs. Trimmings glared at him indignantly.

"Parson, I'll thank ye not to come to my house complainin' if ye're underdressed is not satisfactory."

"Holy Pete!" exclaimed the parson devoutly, and hastily offering Mrs. Trimmings a cigar, he withdrew in a body.

GLENDALE SUGAR BEET PLANT TO RESUME WORK NEXT YEAR

Phoenix, Ariz., March 28.—The Glendale beet sugar factory is not expected to operate this year, as difficulties have been experienced in securing sufficient acreage for the planting of beets.

The controlling company is making plans, however, for large activities next season. It is having a number of fields of beets planted in series, in the hope that it may be found feasible to run the cropping season over about eight months of the year.

It is expected, also, to plant at least 500 acres of cane, for which proper outlines will be made from fields now growing, owned by the sugar company. The mill is equipped for handling either beets or cane.

PHOENIX HIGH SCHOOL GIRL WANDERS 3 DAYS IN DESERT

Phoenix, Ariz., March 28.—Iva McFate, a high school girl, only 15 years old, has been returned to her parents at Phoenix after three days spent in wandering through the desert in a rocky country that lies immediately north of Tempe. She left an automobile in Tempe and crossed into the little wilderness across the river, not appearing completely, though a number of searching parties were searching the desert for her. When found, she was exhausted and her shoes were destroyed. She appears to be little the worse for her experience and her mind now is clear.

HOROSCOPE.

Thursday, March 29, 1917. THROUGH Uranus is in benefic aspect early in the morning, Jupiter, Venus, and Mars are in evil place, while Saturn and Neptune are only faintly good in their influence. It is not a favorable rule under which to undertake any large business enterprises and merchants as well as bankers should be conservative in their policies.

The seers declare that startling events will demoralize certain lines of trade and again the need of practicing thrift is preached.

All the signs appear to promise immense benefits to railways, and this indication is read as promising the movement of immense quantities of food supplies.
